

ABSTRACT

Ureins derived from α,ω -diamino acids
and process for their preparation

Ureins are obtained by reaction, in basic medium, between an N^ω-(aryloxycarbonyl)diamino acid and a compound containing a free amino group. The chirality of the compounds is outstandingly well preserved.

No figure.

[illegible]